

You have regular check-ups with your healthcare provider (HCP). Why not with your pharmacist?

Every time you get a prescription, I am pleased to talk with you about your medications.

But you can also get yearly medication check-ups (sometimes called Medication Therapy Management). Their purpose is to review the type and cost of all the medicines you are taking, including over-the-counter ones.

Together, we can discuss ways to:

- Lower your prescription costs
- Make your medicine schedule easier to follow
- Reduce your risk of hospital stays
- Reduce your risk of health issues

Some insurance companies cover medication check-ups. I would be pleased to talk with you or your insurance company to find out whether the service is covered.

I look forward to meeting with you.
