

Understand & Accept Pharmacists are medication experts

8.6

Pharmacists are experts on how medicines affect your body. This also means they're experts on the best ways for you to take your medicine so it works correctly.

Your pharmacist is a great source for helping you understand your medicines.
For example:

- If you are taking more than one medication, your pharmacist can help you better understand how they work together
- They can help reduce confusion by helping you make a complete list of your medication to share with your HCP
- They can help you prepare questions to ask your HCP about your medications or conditions
- They can work with you to find an easier way to manage all of your medicines
